MONSANTO

"Mark DeVolder was fantastic, highly engaged with the audience. I have never seen an audience stick with the speaker the entire time. The best part, we walked out of the room with tools to help us with change management."

MARLENE STANGER
Operations Lead, Monsanto

We recognize change is here to stay. Now, it's time to...

Navigate change in a sustainable way.

Not with another methodology
Not with another run-of-the-mill keynote on change, but a...

Paced change.
A shift through your entire organization, tangibly felt from the start of Mark's keynote and lasting long into the future.

How?

When you teach your teams how to understand change, view change, and navigate any change they experience, you will watch them go from fearing change to feeling empowered by change.

Helping organizations move confidently through change is Dr. Mark's specialty.

He's known as the 'Change Specialist.'

Sure, he's funny. And engaging. He laughs at himself on stage and creates experiences that result in return speaking requests spanning the globe. But, above all, Mark knows change. He knows why we fear it and how we get past it within it. And he knows how to help leaders and their teams navigate their way through it. When you move from fearing change to understanding how to move confidently through it, you feel empowered. What before was exhausting becomes a bold challenge to step into. Mark will give your audience a path to walk through every change they experience.
